TO LEGAL COUNSEL:

In cross-checking our extra sets of index cards, copies of which were sent to you last week, we notice that there are a substantial number of cards that are blurred and partly illegible.

These vary from set to set and for that reason we are unable to send you cards to replace those that we would expect to be illegible in your set.

Will you please have some one in your office go through the cards and fill in any relatively illegible portions of your set. In the event you have in your set cards that are so blurred that it is not possible to make the corrections, would you please send them to us for replacement.

Please be very careful to see that the cards are mailed to us with your identifying letterhead attached to the cards as well as on the outside of the package.
